Brassard frozen from cabinet

by Janice Harrington

Recently re-elected for his fourth term as MLA for the Olds/Didsbury riding, Conservative MLA Roy Brassard has been frozen from the newly appointed provincial cabinet.

In a press released issued by the province last week outlining the new cabinet under Ralph Klein, Brassard's name was absent from both cabinet position postings and executive committee seats.

The absence of official duties from Klein's cabinet comes as a demotion for Brassard who had supported first Lloyd Quantz, then Nancy Betkowski in the bid for the provincial leadership. Brassard had served as Associate Minister of Family and Social Services and later as Minister Responsible for Seniors under the Getty government. Under Klein's first government, Brassard had been named to sit on the Social Care Facility Review Committee.

With the new appointments under Klein, Brassard now returns to the Legislature to sit as a back bench, despite winning the Olds/Didsbury riding with a significant majority.

While Brassard said he is disappointed by his lack of responsibility in the new cabinet, he does plan to stay involved.

"There are 34 of us that would like to have a position," Brassard said. "But for cabinet, it is critical at this time to balance all the needs. Klein needs the freedom to put in who he needs. And there is a lot of strength in this cabinet."

"As an MLA, I do have the right to sit on any of the committees. The mandate I got here was overwhelming, and I plan to do my very best to fulfil that."

Brassard said he will spend his extra time on local issues like health and the fate of the three local hospitals. He also plans to work on the budget.

Campaign workers from the local Conservative Association are also disappointed with Brassard's disappearance from the government inner circle. Millie Lennox said the team was a little surprised by Brassard's shut out considering the size of Brassard's win and the area which he represents.

"But I feel that it is a matter of balance," Lennox said. "Absolutely in a downsized government there are a lot of tough decisions to make. But these things aren't cast in stone."

"It isn't fair to judge ahead of time," Lennox said regarding the appointment of newcomer MLA Pat Marr. "Roy went in based on his past record, but we will have to wait and see how things turn out before we make any judgements."

Wet target practise

This was one of the games set up by the Aqua Jets as part of their fundraiser on the Canada Day holiday. The kids took great relish in lining up and beaming their friends with wet sponges in the target. This game, and many others put on by the swim club, helped to net them over $1000 towards the club's operations. For a picture view of the fun on the Canada Day holiday at Downhome Didsbury, see page 7.

Agriculture biggest employer

by Janice Harrington

A recent summary of the 1991 Canada census shows agriculture to be the largest employer in the County of Mountain View.

Mountain View was also shown to have the largest number of sheep in the Red Deer Regional Planning Commission's jurisdiction, as well as the largest number of farmers reporting off-farm work.

The summary, prepared by the RDRPC, compiles local statistics from information gathered by the census to help with planning and development in regional areas. Other information found in the report shows that farm size has increased by 11.2 percent since 1971 in the Red Deer area, with acres cultivated up 6.2 percent but the number of farms down 4.4 percent.

The report also showed that the average age of farmers in the area has increased since 1971, making the 55 years and older category the largest part of the market in this reporting period.

County of Mountain View crop use reports show land use break down as follows: crops - 54.4 percent, summerfallow - 2.8 percent, improved pasture - 10.2 percent and other - 32.6 percent.

With the trend for decline in the number of farms in the area, some concern has been raised both nationally and provincially about the future of rural municipalities. Population prediction made by the RDRPC shows a significant increase in all areas of the Mountain View county based on historical analysis.

Under the predictions, the county is expected to show an average annual increase of 2.6 percent to the year 2011 or to 34,516 from 22,720. A closer breakdown shows the following growth predictions: Didsbury - 3355 to 6181, Olds - 5542 to 9098, Sundre - 1834 to 3605, Cremona - 393 to 830 and Carstairs - 1645 to 3061.

Linear predictions for the same time period show a less optimistic growth prediction. Linear predictions are based on a 5 year average over 15 years. They predict for the year 2011 show Didsbury to 4348, Olds to 7930, Sundre to 2447, Cremona to 544 and Carstairs to 1985.

Canada Day draws big crowds

by Janice Harrington

Around 300 to 400 are estimated to have hit the attractions on Main Street last week for the Downhome Didsbury celebration of Canada Day.

Event organizer Gary Trippel said crowds of people were on hand to participate in the fun and games that took place in and around the gazebo park and Eldon Foote hall last Thursday, making it another successful community event.

"I think things went fairly well," said Trippel who was pleased with the turn out and the weather. "There were a lot of people around playing the games and watching the dunk tank at the Aqua Jets fundraiser, and we had quite a few people around to enjoy the entertainment at the hall too."

Another big attraction for the holiday was the fun fly put on by the Didsbury RC Fun Flyers at their airstrip just north of town. Remote control plane enthusiasts from as far away as Airdrie and Calgary came to show off their planes and talk about their hobby with interested spectators. Planes of varying sizes and speeds took part in flying demonstrations, dog fights and crash landings as part of the fun.

Besides the fun offered by all the attractions over the late afternoon and evening, the central attractions were also a fundraiser for the Didsbury Aqua Jets Swim Club. Allen Meyer, president of the club said he did not have exact figures, but he estimated they managed to raise close to $1000 through games, food sales and the dunk tank.

"It was a lot of work to put the whole thing on," he said. "But it was worth it for the community. I think everyone really enjoyed it."

Meyer said he was also pleased by how well the weather cooperated for the fun, clearing to become sunny and warm once the events began just after 5 pm. He said the club will look into participating again next year.

"We would like to add a few games if we are invited to do it again," he said.

And expansion may be on the minds of the organizers according to Trippel who said the committee will take the winter to examine ideas for growth of the one day festival. The one event they won't likely tamper with is the fire works display which topped off the Canada Day celebration.

"The fire works were spectacular," Trippel said. "The fire department did a really great job with it. I don't think we need to do anything to improve that."

Mr. Clean (up)

The Fire Department helped to organize another successful toxic round up program which was held last Tuesday. The mobile collection van collected an assortment of household products that could be deadly if improperly disposed of. The waste was then taken to the Alberta Special Waste Treatment plant in Swan Hills for disposal.

Mount View Lodge news

by Annie Caush

Hi all! Glad you didn't all blow away last week. Hope we get some nice weather now to enjoy all the beauty we see all around us.

The June birthday party at the Lodge was hosted by Auxiliary members Nancy Herbert and Mary Lee Johnson. For entertainment we had Marlene Greenlaw at the piano and Nancy led us in singing some old favorite songs. We were then treated to a nice lunch.

One afternoon recently Grace de Jong invited us over to her home for an afternoon of visiting in her beautiful yard. Of course she treated us royally to "drinks" and good food. A really nice afternoon and a goodly number of residents enjoyed it.

Last Saturday was the Sundre parade and a goodly number of us took advantage of the Legion van and another car driven by a volunteer Michelle Berreth and we viewed the parade in front of the Foothills Retreat Lodge. The parade marshal was the well-known Albertan Dr. Grant MacEwan. When the parade came to the Lodge he got out of the buggy he was riding in and watched the rest of the parade, then he visited among the residents and had dinner at the Lodge. All who were able to make the trip felt it was a really special day. Our thanks to our drivers, the Sundre Lodge staff and other volunteers who assisted in any way.

In hospital we have Mrs. Eva Warren. We hope to see you "home" real soon.

O Canada

This was a Canada Day I'll never forget. In fact, I think I'll have the double pneumonia around for awhile to remind me of the ice cold dunking I got repeatedly in the Aqua Jets dunk tank. They weren't kidding when they asked how good a sport I was.

Actually it was kind of fun to be part of the festivities and to help raise some money for a good cause, but I would have preferred more of a bath tub temperature rather than the icicle drippings they filled the tank with. I'm sure it made for a good show with everyone dunked leaping back out as quickly as humanly possible, gasping and sputtering, then climbing back up to sit shivering on the bar. I don't think any of the throwing was done maliciously, though there were a few who threatened. (Then again one might have been somewhat malicious - and I do promise to get even Ed!) I do think that there are quite a few little people around here who should be trying out for the big league as pitchers though. What accuracy! The worst part was watching as the ball lightly hit the target. It gave you just enough time to register the fact that you were going in for another polar bear dip before it unceremoniously dropped you into the tank. I think I'll get our publisher to be the good sport next year.

It is unfortunate that Ralph has decided to leave our own venerable Mr. Brassard out of his cabinet and inner circle all together. It is also very odd.

In this riding, we have a Conservative MLA with experience, respect and a huge mandate, and instead Klein chooses to fill his cabinet posts with newcomers to the Legislature.

Is it a little bit of vengeance that made Ralph decide to leave Brassard in the cold, considering he supported Betkowski over the portly wonder? If that is the case, then he has made a serious mistake and the voters have also made a mistake if they thought he was any different from the hundreds of politicians that have gone before him. Patronage is certainly a well played political game, but it doesn't look good for a man who promises up front government.

Quote of the week:

"We are going to have the bareback dollar bill race now. It's too bad, you just missed the sack race. It is something to see those horses try to hold the sacks up over their legs."

In defence of farmers

Dear Editor:

I read with interest the story of Noreen Olson's. The blue heron flying along beside their car right up to their yard. These beautiful birds, that are very rare here, need our protection even if they sometimes steal fish from farmers ponds. Plans are available from the agriculture building for farmers who want to keep them out of their ponds.

I then read Janice Harrington's comments about farmers starving their cattle to death. She was right in condemning them for the dastardly deed. There really isn't any just cause for this in our land of plenty.

I however had to disagree with her comments about predators such as foxes and coyotes.

Yes they are beneficial animals if they just eat mice and rodents but they also eat a lot of birds nest eggs and little ones such as partridge, owls, warblers and ducks and other birds that nest on the ground.

Foxes also dig under fences of chicken wire and kill all the fowl they can get a hold of. I had 8 imported roosters from U.S.A. all killed by a fox. He ate half of one and just piled the rest in a heap before departing to his den.

He also dug a hole under a chicken coop and killed the hen and 10 little chicks.

The coyotes are just as clever as a fox I believe. They dug under my 40 acre pagewire fence and killed so many lambs I had to get out of the sheep business entirely. Coyotes get real bold, so bold they'll jump into a hog pen and steal little pigs and also take new born calves. So Janice don't be too hard on farmers who try to protect their livestock, they also have to live too.

Problem ends at gun point

Dear Editor:

RE: Editorial of June 29 "Didsbury Review"

"Ode to a Fox" (Page 4, June 29, "Didsbury Review") was definitely a touching editorial. Harassing activities toward animals (be they wild, domesticated, or human) or abusive treatment to animals, are certainly practices which must not be tolerated. However, this statement must be all-encompassing.

Surely the five-day old calf, separated from mama, chased head-long through a barbed wire fence by two coyotes, deserves equal consideration. Surely the tormented stockman nursing that calf back to health deserves equal consideration. Surely the frenzied inhabitants of the hen house, upon the intrusion of a "lovely, bushy-tailed" prairie predator deserve equal consideration.

The reaction of many rural dwellers to a threat to their stock, their livelihood, is to eliminate the perpetrator. Few, thankfully, employ harassing means to deter the threat. Most use a far more definitive conclusion ... termination. Killing coyotes and foxes on a landowner's own property is completely legal, and in some cases, a necessity.

Many of the wild species which enrich our lives, day and night, are often occupants of my small land base. I hold no particular malice for any of them. Thirty-seven mule deer may have dealt with last winter better because of my offerings. (They certainly ate enough!) However, when a coyote threatens one of my purebred calves or chases my cattle dog past me en route to my barn, my reaction is swift.

Pension challenge for widows

Dear Editor:

The War Amps has filed the challenge under the Charter in the Ontario Court of Justice claiming discrimination against war widows, whose pension is only 75 percent of the rate paid to a single male pensioner. War widow's pension, paid at the maximum rate of approximately $1,200 a month, is $400 less than that paid to male pensioners, and is below the poverty line in most provinces.

This is a gender issue for the '90s. It is necessary to realize that there are very few male widowers in receipt of pension. We are seeking equalization for our war widows who, under the existing Veterans Affairs Pension Act, are expected to live on an income 25 percent less than would have been paid if they had predeceased their husbands.

There is no valid reason for continuing this discrepancy into the 1990's when equality between men and women is not only a requirement of the Charter, but is also a policy sought in both public and private sectors.

The War Amps has been fighting this battle practically since 1918 and, if we are successful, we expect that some 20,000 war widows will benefit.

The War Amps claim specifics as well that widows of war amputees represent an "elite" among womanhood in this country. Such widows are also entitled to a special status, compared with other widows, in that they were recognized by the government while their husbands were alive through payment of a spousal allowance.

Another special factor in The War Amps claim concerns the heavily-disabled war veteran who was discharged from hospital to his home after the war, where his wife had to provide care and assistance. In most of these cases there has been a 50 year commitment which precluded the wife from engaging in the labor force as she was required to devote all of her energies as a caregiver to her severely-handicapped husband.

The War Amps is asking the court to consider this "care giving" as an additional reason for paying her pension at the same rate as a single male pensioner. In further argument, The War Amps point out that, if her husband was a pensioner at the rate of 80 percent to 100 percent and had predeceased her, he would have received more pension than that to which she is entitled as his widow, although the cost-of-living for both would be the same.

A request for a revision of the legislation to provide equal benefits for widows and single male pensioners was made to Gerald Merrithew, then Minister of Veterans Affairs, on May 8, 1991. The Minister stated that there was no government funding available to correct the imbalance. If the court rules that there is discrimination against widows, the Department of Veterans Affairs will have to budget for the money.

The implementation of a favourable ruling from the court would fulfill an implied contract to the deceased veteran to the effect that if he died of a pension disability, his widow would be accorded fair treatment.

Computer crashed - help needed

Dear Editor:

Help, my computer crashed... Yes, I've been intending on making backups on floppies - but .. no .. I didn't have a floppy copy of my labels, nor did I even have a hard or floppy copy of my June newsletter or articles for future letters. Yes - I know better - in fact when I ran off the May labels - I was prompted to do the next months. Yes - do as I say, don't do as I did - save - save - save - as often as you can't afford to lose! After several days and hundreds of dollars later - my computer hard drive and mother board were replaced. The crashed hard drive is in a 5" x 8" envelope. Hopefully I will locate someone who could recover some of my data (Information). I lecture on - preach and try to practice a positive attitude - so now I have the opportunity to practice what I preach.

Thomas Edison's laboratories were heavily damaged by fire one night in December 1914. Edison lost almost $1 million worth of equipment and the record of much of his life's work. Walking about the charred embers of his hopes and dreams the next morning, the 67-year-old inventor said: "There is value in disaster. All our mistakes are burned. Now we can start anew." Edison understood one of life's great principles: Almost any situation, good or bad, is affected by the attitude we bring to it.

I am starting anew. I need the addresses of the people who subscribed to "MARLYS" (My

Helping hands make success

Dear Editor:

This year's Canada Day celebrations were a success for the Aqua Jets Swim Club who used some of the events as a fundraiser. We're sure it was an event most won't soon forget.

I especially will not forget the looks in the eyes of the volunteers who manned the dunk tank. The look of trepidation in the eyes of Janice (Didsbury Review), Chris (K & W), Katherine (AG Foods), Dan (Town Council) and Jim (RCMP) and all the kids who filled in, must have been the same as was present of the faces of the individuals who supplied the entertainment in ancient Rome. The dunk tank drew great crowds, thanks to the work of Jack Collinge of the Agricultural Society and Clem Kuelker, without whose help it would never have been set up.

The Canada Day celebration reminded me of the fair days of the past, centred around the old 'band stand'. It was a time for both young and old to visit, play games, listen to fine music, be chauffeured by Don Irwin in his horse-drawn wagon, and in general, celebrate the gift of Canada bestowed on us by our grandparents. All the volunteers who helped with the day, Home Hardware and AG Foods who donated to the fun, and all the people who came to watch and participate, are those who help make our country an extra rich place to live.

Allen Meyer, President
Didsbury Aqua Jets

Against foreign intervention

Dear Editor:

In the U.K., the ruling Tories are under attack for accepting millions of dollars in "donations" from foreign businessmen. The good people of Britain are smelling a rat. They don't believe that foreigners should be funding their political parties, especially their governing party.

In Canada, the ruling Tories and opposition Liberals routinely accept millions from foreign-owned corporations. Even the Reform party has recently gone to the multi-national conglomerates, hat in hand, seeking donations. And the NDP no longer complain about this because they too, accept donations, albeit from unions whose head offices are in foreign countries. Of all Canadian political parties, only Mel Hurtig's new National Party says that foreigners have no business funding our political parties.

Look at what happens when foreigners are allowed to participate in our sovereign affairs: ninety-three percent of foreign investment in Canada has been used to take over thousands of Canadian-owned companies. Less than seven percent was used to create new business and jobs. Half of Canada is now owned by foreigners.

This is the price we pay for letting foreigners donate millions to our political parties. Canadians who, like the British, smell a rat can always stop it by voting Mel Hurtig for Prime Minister.

Cancer support group wanted

by Janice Harrington

Cancer patients and their families looking for some information and support should not have to go all the way to Calgary for the help.

That's the feeling of Christine Ahmad, who works at the College Green Medical Centre. Ahmad, who sees patients diagnosed with cancer on a regular basis in and around the area, is looking to start up a local support group for people affected by the insidious disease.

"There is nothing in the Olds/Didsbury area," Ahmad said. "So I talked to the Reach for Recovery group in Calgary and told them I was interested in starting a support group here. They were really supportive and gave me all the information I need."

Now all Ahmad needs to get the group underway is volunteers. She is looking to see if people are firstly interested in having a support group in the area and secondly, whether or not they will volunteer their time to make it work.

"The volunteer work isn't very many hours," she said. "It is more like AA where people who have gone through the emotional stress, the worries and the grieving are there to help other people who have been diagnosed. They are the ones that have an idea what the other person is needing."

But Ahmad stressed that there is room in the organization for everyone, not just survivors and families. She is looking for those people to call her so that she can start to organize the group.

"I would really like to get things up and running by the fall," she said.

For more information call the College Green Medical Centre at 335-3341.

Wildlife conservation effort benefiting farmers

Thousands of migratory birds that spend their summers in Alberta's wetlands are finding the province an increasingly better place to raise their young. The credit for this turn-around goes to the team-work of hundreds of farmers and ranchers along with the partners of the largest habitat conservation initiative in history: the North American Waterfowl Management Plan (NAWMP).

Launched in 1986, the NAWMP is a 15-year, internationally-funded agreement between Canada, the United States, and Mexico. It establishes the framework for reversing the serious decline of waterfowl and other wetland-associated migratory bird populations. The NAWMP recognizes that prairie Canada is the most important destination for breeding waterfowl in North America, and that breeding habitats needed to be conserved as one of our most precious natural resources.

"Wetlands are among nature's most vital and productive communities," says Ernie Ewaschuk, a senior biologist with the Plan in Alberta. "When considering the water, shoreline vegetation and surrounding grasses, trees and shrubs that make up this community, wetlands support hundreds of wildlife species. These ducks, shorebirds, songbirds, mammals and a host of other wildlife, depend on wetlands for their survival."

In Alberta, the habitat program of the NAWMP is called Alberta Prairie Care, and it is delivered by a team of biologists, agrologists and resource technicians from Ducks Unlimited and Alberta Fish and Wildlife Services, with support from the Canadian Wildlife Service, Wildlife Habitat Canada, and Alberta Agriculture.

The program is highly focused in target areas of the province and it involves working as a team with farmers and ranchers to provide habitat benefits for wildlife while also providing benefits to the farm operation. Les Wetter, provincial agrologist with Ducks Unlimited in Alberta, calls it a "win-win situation".

"For example, we have a lot of annual cropping done on property that has marginal agricultural value but could be highly productive for wildlife and from the standpoint of soil and water conservation," says Wetter. "In some cases, we'll pay farmers to convert these areas to quality grass cover for wildlife."

In other cases, parkland or wooded areas are "idled" during critical periods for wildlife nesting and growth. Another approach provides financial incentives to farmers to delay haying or grazing until after July 15 on perennial cover. This reduces wildlife disturbances and contributes to a higher nesting success rate for many ground nesting birds such as waterfowl.

As a result of the NAWMP and the Alberta Prairie Care program, today there are more than 200,000 acres conserved or enhanced in Alberta to provide this vital wetland habitat. And that's just the beginning.

"There is a lot of energy out there to make a difference and change the way we manage the land," says Ewaschuk. "It can mean good things for all of us - farmers and wildlife."

Diamond tax amendment proposed

Bill McKnight, Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources (EMR), and Don Mazankowski, Minister of Finance, last week announced proposed changes to the income tax rules, effective January 1, 1993, to include all diamond deposits in the definition of a "mineral resource."

"Diamond exploration in Canada has recently reached a high level of activity. The income tax treatment accorded to diamond deposits has been the subject of a number of representations made to me", McKnight said.

The change will provide certainty to the mineral investment community that exploration for diamond deposits can be financed by flow-through share offerings, since all eligible exploration costs would then qualify as Canadian exploration expenses. Flow-through shares are a financial mechanism which allow Canadian exploration expenses incurred by a mining company to be passed on to investors in consideration for shares in the company.]

These benefits include accelerated depreciation of the capital costs of new mines which effectively allows such new mines to recover all capital costs before paying any income tax.

The amendment also assures potential developers of diamond mines in Canada that they will be entitled to the same benefits accorded to a "mineral resource" under the provisions of the Income Tax Act. These benefits include accelerated depreciation of the capital costs of new mines which effectively allows such new mines to recover all capital costs before paying any income tax.

It is expected that the required income tax amendment will be released in draft form in July.

Housing starts drop in May

National housing starts fell 13.8 percent in May to 147,600 units at a seasonally adjusted annual rate (SAAR), reported Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The April starts level was revised up slightly to 171,300 units SAAR.

In urban centres, starts of single-detached dwellings were down 6.9 percent in May to 63,800 units SAAR, compared with 68,500 units in April. Multiple unit construction fell by almost one-quarter to 55,800 units SAAR, from a level of 74,800 units in April.

"The sharp drop in May activity is a reversal of the April increase. Most of it is due to multiple unit construction which is notoriously volatile," said Gilles Proulx, Chief Economist at CMHC's Market Analysis Centre. "However, the decrease in May highlights that construction of single-detached dwellings also weakened and will likely remain sluggish according to builders' reports. As a result, housing activity will remain subdued over the short term," Proulx added.

Ontario urban starts dropped to 38,100 units SAAR, from 43,800 in April, after three consecutive monthly increases. Both single-detached and multiple unit construction, mainly condominiums, contributed to the lower numbers.

Urban Quebec starts fell to 27,900 from a strong level of 35,600 units SAAR in April. The decline was concentrated in condominium apartments while construction of single-detached dwellings was down only marginally.

British Columbia urban starts retreated to a level of 32,900 from 37,400 units SAAR in April, a second consecutive decline. The decline was more significant within the multiple market for both rental and condominium units. Construction of single-detached units also inched down.

Activity in the Prairies fell to 14,600 units SAAR in May from 21,800 in April mainly as a result of much lower starts of condominium units in Alberta. Starts activity was also down in Saskatchewan while it rose in Manitoba.

In contrast to the national trend, starts activity rose in the Atlantic region, reaching 6,100 units SAAR in May, up from 4,700 units the previous month.

To A Goldfinch

I think God made you little bird,
From bursts of golden sunshine,
Gave you feathers and little black legs,
And a body and soul sublime.
Your yellow coat and little black cap,
With long black wings and tail,
Show bright amid the trees so green,
As you swoop and dive and sail.
You have a lively little sweet song,
That radiates the joy of living,
Changing my often sensitive mood,
From sorrow to thanksgiving.
You love to feed on dandelions,
And also on thistle seeds,
You fly into our open deck,
To feed on canola seeds.
You build your tiny little nest,
In leafy trees or little shrubs,
Feed your young on little green worms,
And many beetles and bugs.
When young are grown and frost appears,
You all fly south once more,
To where no snow covers the earth,
Near the coast on tropical shores.
I can hardly wait for your return,
For you express God's great love,
So when at last you do return,
It's like a gift from Heaven above.
So come back soon little goldfinch,
You've been away too long.
I miss your bright golden plumage,
And your Heavenly merry song.

OLDS

Hundred awards given in Olds

by Elaine Wilson

Although a surprising amount of award recipients were no-shows, nearly three hundred students, teachers, and family members and friends attended the Olds Junior-Senior High Awards Night June 29.

Well over one hundred awards were distributed for notable achievements in academic and sporting excellence during the course of the evening. Graduating class valedictorian and honor roll member Kara McDonald took home multiple honors including the highest standing in several courses, the I.O.D.E. award for highest standing overall, most valuable female volleyball and basketball player, track and field award of excellence, and the Kiwanis award for female outstanding ability and participation.

County of Mountain View Scholarship winner Winnie Wong made the honor roll list in addition to being first in her class in both Mathematics 30 and 31. She also took home awards for participation and effort on the yearbook, and earned the senior high badminton award of excellence.

The Governor General's academic medal went to David

Richardson. Alexander Rutherford Scholarships went to Michelle Anning, Laurie Hildebrand, Shari Leedahl, Wayne Boettger, Kent Chan, Tammy Gall, Nancy Mozaryani, Sandra Patton, Karen Qually, Jean Rosenke and Trevor Sleno.

Shelby Chrest took the golf award of excellence and student leaders singled out for "giving time to organize school activities" were Stacey McDonald, Megan Brown, Carmen Noda and Monica Gustafson.

Highest standings over all by grade were: Grade 8- Alisa Bell, grade 9- Reid Lansing, grade 10- Susan Kennedy, grade 11- Daniel Jefferies and grade 12- Kara McDonald.

The Principal's award went to Jennifer Hiller and teacher appreciation awards bestowed by the parent advisory council went to Stan Ploresky and Bert McMullen.

Entertainment was provided by Wendy Bell, Marliss Weber, and Susan Kennedy.

The Steven Conrad Memorial, sponsored by the Olds High School student council, constituted a major highlight in the proceedings. Dean Olson was singled out for the award which is presented annually to the student who best demonstrates "perseverance and selfdirectedness". Before calling Olson to the stage, Annette Valerio said that when Olson came to the school teachers were told to watch his attendance and behaviour. Sensing wasted promise, OHS teachers encouraged Olson to cultivate a new set of friends and concentrate on his studies. Olsen was commended for turning a self-defeating pattern of behavior into a success story that earned the respect and admiration of both fellow students and teaching staff. Valerio said students like Olson "made it all worthwhile". When it was learned prior to the ceremony that Olson had no way of reaching the ceremonies, two staff members volunteered to escort him to and from Rocky Mountain House to ensure his attendance.

New town manager welcomed

Garry Gelech was officially welcomed as new town manager by Mayor Bob Armstrong and town council at the June 28 council meeting.

Gelech replaced former town manager John Van Doesburg who took a position with the provincial government earlier in the year.

Married with three children, Gelech was formerly the town manager in Battleford Saskatchewan, and served as president of the Urban Municipal Administrator's Association of Saskatchewan.

Gelech has been busy relocating and recently became a father for the third time. He is looking forward to the challenges of his new position as Olds' town manager and said that settling in was no problem.

"People have been fantastic," Gelech said, mentioning how his family's arrival was marked with deliveries of baked goodies and meals. Offers to assist in unloading furniture were gratefully accepted.

"A bunch of people in the neighborhood got together and within an hour we had that truck unloaded. Olds is a great town and we already feel very much at home here," Gelech said.

CARSTAIRS

Another year for beef and barley

by Janice Harrington

Another year is to be added to the long tradition of Beef and Barley Days in Carstairs.

A project of the Carstairs and District Agricultural Society, the annual July event will be held again July 16, 17 and 18.

The weekend will be full of events according to long time event organizer Lois Casebeer.

"There's just a pile of things going on, it's hard to know where to start," she said.

Activities start off Friday night with slo-pitch games, a talent show and fireworks. The talent show will be held at the Hugh Sutherland School gym and the fireworks will take place at 11 pm west of the arena.

Saturday is a very full day which starts off with a free pancake breakfast sponsored by the Carstairs Chamber of Commerce and the Carstairs Co-op. Starting at 7 am, donations made at the breakfast will be donated to STARS Air Ambulance. Following the breakfast, at 11 am, the parade will take place. Following the parade Casebeer said a trade show will open at the arena featuring displays and sales by a variety of local businesses and groups. Also happening on Saturday is the Carstairs Fire Department's hose laying competition. Wet and wild, the fun will start at 2 pm on the main street.

Also planned for day time fun on Saturday are kids' games, entertainment by Rosco the Clown, a pet show and booths.

Saturday will feature the famous roast beef dinner at the curling rink. The dinner, catered by the Curling Ladies, includes roast beef a baked potato, baked beans and coleslaw. Dinner will start at 5 pm with a cabaret to follow at 9 pm.

Sunday entertainment includes a horse pull and more slo-pitch games.

For more information about Beef and Barley Days, call Lois Casebeer at 337-2147.

SUNDRE / WESTWARD HO

Rodeo adds to reputation

by Janice Harrington

The recently renamed Sundre Pro Rodeo added to its reputations as the event not to miss in western Alberta after this year's successful event.

Event organizer Allison Ellithorpe said once again the rodeo was a huge success, drawing large crowds of spectators and professional rodeo riders to the small community on the eastern edge of the Rocky Mountains.

"We had fantastic attendance, especially Saturday," Ellithorpe said. "We just had an excellent packed crowd."

The crowds were so good, organizers of the rodeo are investigating the possibility of expanding the grandstand area to accommodate the spectators the event draws.

"We are hoping to work on that this year," she said. "We want to expand the seating and the comfort in the grandstand. It is just part of improving a little every year."

One of the improvements the committee made this year was the change in name of the event. Formerly the Gary Logan Memorial Rodeo, this year the event was renamed the Sundre Pro Rodeo.

"That was more for the advertising," Ellithorpe said. "If it has the name of Sundre in it then people know where to come."

Results for the professional rodeo and other events help are as follows: Saddlebrone - 1. Kelly Palmer (83) 2. Shawn Henry (83) 3. Shane Parker/Glenn O'Neill/Ross Wilson (75). Bareback - 1. Break in festivities Kimberley Smee, age 9 and her sister Patricia, age 6 took a little break from the Canada Day festivities at the Sundre Museum last week in this wooden replica of an old train. The two, who had been models in the period fashion show put on by the museum, also found a safe refuge from the rain.

CREMONA / WATER VALLEY

Bradley takes by-election

by Janice Harrington

A recent Cremona by-election for a vacant seat on the village council has been won by former councillor Ernie Bradley.

Bradley, an employee of Home Oil, won the seat from Karen Sinclair, a newcomer to the political scene. This was Bradley's second attempt for the council seat. He had entered in the election last fall but was defeated.

Bradley replaces former councillor Bill Howells who resigned his seat earlier this year after taking a job in Yemen. Howells, who had been the area representative on the County of Mountain View School Board before running for the municipal seat, felt the job would not allow him to be involved enough in his civic responsibilities.

Official election results, reported by returning officer Cleta Haggerty, showed a final voting result in Bradley's favor of 53 to 41. The voter turnout of 94 in the small village of less than 400, was considered to be good.

Horsing around

Contestants lined up for the riding fun at Canada Day fun in Cremona last week. Organizers of the event had brought back the gymkhana for this year's fun. Riders took part in such races as the spoon race, the dollar bill race and the sack race.

Fourteen members and two guests, Eileen Ray and Jean McElroy, congregated in Noreen Olson's new home on June 23rd. It wasn't a great day outside but the hospitality and warm welcome at Noreen's made up for the inclement weather.

The roll call was "My Favorite School Activity". One member put recess on the top of her list while others enjoyed such mundane things such as sports, sports and sports. A few even mentioned school subjects such as spelling, math, music and art.

The minutes were read by Lita Reid, our secretary and were approved as read by Kay Unger our president. Marie Olson gave a very satisfactory treasurer's report.

Noreen suggested all delegates should automatically receive reimbursement for mileage, luncheons and registration fees.

The 50th anniversary open house for Elma and Lionel Bird was discussed. It is to be on July 10th at 7 - 8:30 at the Cremona Hall. A dance will follow. Mary Jane Davies, as head of the catering committee gave the requirements to be brought the day of the open house.

Susan Holbrook will be unable to attend any more meetings this year as she is taking a course which falls on Wednesday.

Our October meeting will be at Dorothy Odell's, not at Pasu Farms as originally planned.

A motion was made by Noreen

Olson: 2nd by Mary Jane Davies that we make a contribution to the office fund in memory of Shirleyann Hammer. The motion was passed.

Darlene Hallett read a letter by her New Zealand counterpart and Evelyn Robertson will reply to it.

Three members gave conference reports. The first day our ex-MLA Connie Osterman spoke on "Strength in Sharing". Other speakers included Bev Levitt, whose topic was "Are You Listening"; Lynne Kemler spoke "Water" which is a precious commodity and a non-renewable resource. Each delegate, Elma Bird, Kay Unger and Marie Olson, gave excellent and interesting reports.

Our President Holly Hallett was not well enough to preside over her last meeting as president so Noreen Olson presided for her instead. She made several presentations. The new executive is Elizabeth Rushton as president, Doris Northey as president-elect and Hazel Swainson as first vice president. Good luck to you all.

Gerda Nierhaus sang and Elma Bird played "My Best To You" as Holly's farewell to the AWI presidency.

Judy Bellamy, the education and cultural convenor gave a reading entitled "Empowering Women". Given present day stats in the year 2050 there will be 5.5 billion souls on this earth. Empowering women helps them to learn about birth control and health cares. Thank you, Judy.

Elma Bird, claiming family tradition, adjourned the meeting. The next meeting will be on Sept. 22nd at Mary Jane Davies home.

A happy summer to you all!

North Lone Pine W.I. notes

by Christine Milne

The last meeting before our summer break was held June 21, at the home of Mrs. Ronald Milne. 4 members and 1 guest attended. Roll Call was given a one-minute speech on "If I were Prime Minister of Canada I would...". We agreed Eve Fell could run this country, very well.

Shirley Thompson, Evelyn Clarke and Christine Milne gave their report on the Provincial Conference held earlier this month. They agreed it was a good conference, our members did well in the handicraft competitions, and we would like to congratulate the local ladies who won special prizes with their work. We joined with W.I. members across the province in mourning the loss of a special W.I. member Shirleyann Hammer who would have become A.W.I. president this month. We also are all extending our support to past-provincial president Holly Hallett, as we pray for her recovery.

We had a very special young lady, Lori Lodermeier, as guest speaker. Lori is the volunteer co-ordinator of Padnoma Support Services Inc. in Olds. She explained the structure and purpose of Padnoma - a non-profit organization which assists individuals with special needs. She made us aware of the need for volunteers to help these special people to succeed in life, as confident happy individuals.

Contests were won by Evelyn Clarke, Shirley Thompson and Eve Fell.

Our next meeting will be in September.

On Saturday, June 26, 5

members and guest Irene Elliot took a tour of the "My Doll House" Museum and gift shop at Torrington. What a thrill to us "grandmotherly" types to see hundreds of dolls of all types on display. Owner Phyllis Wilson very capably described the history and the origination of most of the dolls. We recommend this tour to those of you who remember your youth and the toys you had then.

Have a safe and happy summer, everyone.

Twenty teams in tourney

The Didsbury Cleavers Mixed Slowpitch team hosted their fifth annual mixed slowpitch tournament the weekend of June 11-13. Twenty teams participated, coming from as far as Onoway, Sunnyslope, and Calgary, and of course Didsbury. Being their fifth annual tournament, the Cleavers were giving away lots of prizes, the grand prize being a propane BBQ. Cooler sets, duffle bags, waist packs, T-shirts, mugs, and caps were also given away during the course of the tournament and cabaret. Congratulations to all the winners and to Jim Smith (of the Whiskey Jacks), who won the BBQ.

Tournaments cannot run successfully without the help and support of a lot of people. Didsbury Esso, the Didsbury Inn, Monarch Building Supplies from Olds, and all of the umpires helped us out a great deal. The tournament teams filled the campground and we saw them also support a lot of local businesses to make the town a busy place for the weekend.

Winning the tournament A side were the Cloverdale Mixers from Red Deer, who outscored Dusty's Saloon 7-6. The B side winners were the Didsbury Cleavers, who played against the Onoway A's. The C side was won by the Smudgehammers, who played Over the Top.

All of the participating teams displayed great sportsmanship during the tournament and the Cleavers and all of the spectators saw some great games over the weekend. Congratulations to all the participating teams! See you next year!

A close second

The under 13 soccer team came in a close second in their division play-offs held Saturday, June 26. Coached by Ian Mason and Scott Williams, the team members are: Colin Willdig, Ashley St. Jean, Erik Hornby, Jeff Lehman, John Leslie, Fabio Argueda, Jonathan Rose, Stephanie Hyslop, Blake McNiel, Justin Artindale, Gary Randall, Cole Harvie, Brian Piper, Ryan Good, Kristine Dahl, Graham Johnston, Christopher Birch, Tom Dawson and Philip Portingale.

Playing hardball

The local minor ball league got a boost from the Alberta Sports Council and from local businesses last week in the amount of $2000. The money will be used to purchase hardball equipment for local teams. Making the presentation to league representative Mary Trenholm and Rec Board Chair Allan Tuggle was Amoco's John Fulnovic and MLA Roy Brassard.

Recreation views

by Laurie Snyder

Outdoor volleyball is a popular sport during the summer months and is now offered to more Didsbury residents. The Didsbury and District Recreation and Culture Board is providing a standard outdoor portable volleyball set, available for rental at the Didsbury Aquatic Centre. Outdoor volleyball is great entertainment and exercise at beach parties, barbecues and other outdoor parties. Please inquire at the Recreation Office at 335-8377 for more information.

The Alberta Basketball Association will be running a basketball clinic for people in grades 7 to 12. The clinic introduces the sport to beginners and helps reinforce and teach new skills to more advanced players. The deadline for registration for this event is Friday, July 9.

The Recreation Board is interested in offering a tennis clinic for beginners and advanced players in the community. The clinic will be held depending upon interest. Please contact Shawna at the Rec. Office at 335-8377.

The Didsbury and District Light Horse Show will be held at the arena July 9, 10, 11. For more information contact Wendy Krebs at 335-4278.

Summer Fun takes a trip to the Calgary Planetarium on July 14 to see the "Ocean in Motion" show complementing this week's "Under the Sea" theme. The registration deadline is July 7.

A reminder that Circus Gatti arrives in town August 16 to entertain everyone young and old, to kicking off the Agricultural Fair and Rodeo on August 20 to 22 in Didsbury.

Out of the rain

Players in the provincial soccer play-offs held last weekend in the Westglen fields had to break off between games to run in from the rain. Some teams had more creative methods for keeping dry than others.

Songwriters get chance at fame

Hobby songwriters who have always dreamed of hearing one of their songs recorded just might get the chance this summer thanks to a new contest.

Crooked House records is looking for songs in the areas of country/country and western, rock, rhythm and blues/gospel, easy listening/jazz, adult contemporary/folk, pop and dance/rap/world beat.

The grand prize, which will be awarded to three songwriters, will be a publishing contract with Crooked House Publishing and CD copies of their songs, recorded by an award winning group of musicians.

To enter the contest you must be a member of a performing rights society or be willing to join one. All the songs must be original and the property of the songwriter(s) submitting them. Each song should be submitted on an audio cassette with a name and address on the label. Great productions aren't necessary and can be as simple as one song and one voice. A copy of the lyrics should accompany each cassette.

For more information and to obtain an entry form, interested songwriters can write to Crooked House Records (Song Contest), P.O. Box 51027, Royal Square P.O., New Westminster, B.C. V3L 5P6 or you can pick up a copy of the entry form at The Didsbury Review.

Contest deadline is November 30, 1993.

Call for submissions

Alberta Community Development, the Alberta Foundation for the Arts and CBC Radio invites writers to submit half-hour radio drama scripts to the Sixth Annual Write For Radio competition.

Write For Radio recognizes the talents of writers in the electronic media and develops and supports writers' skills by providing professional writing and production experience.

Three winners will be selected by jury. Each will receive $500 to attend a pre-production workshop to prepare for a potential contract with CBC's national drama series, Studio '94. The workshop will be held in Edmonton and led by Studio '94 executive producer Bill Lane. The cash prizes are provided by the Alberta Foundation for the Arts which is supported by the Alberta Lottery Fund.

Studio '94 is a venue for drama that takes risks and avoids easy resolutions. Writers are encouraged to make full use of the dramatic possibilities of radio in any number of genres, providing they challenge themselves and their listeners.

Submissions must be postmarked by September 29, 1993 and sent to Arts & Cultural Industries Branch, Alberta Community Development, 3rd Floor, Beaver House, 10158 - 103 Street, Edmonton T5J 0X6.

For guidelines and further information call 427-6315 or write to the above address.

CORNER OF INTELLECT

The brave pets who turn into rescue dogs

Dogs have been rescuing people for centuries and the breed most of us associate with sniffing out those who get lost in the world's wild parts is the St. Bernard.

They have been doing it for more than four hundred years up in the Swiss Alps, and you must have seen pictures or drawings of them, knee-deep in snow with a little brandy barrel strapped underneath their chins!

But much more humble dogs have been saving lives in Britain over the last 25 years — all members of a canine corps of rescue animals which search for victims in the bleakest parts of the countryside.

They are the dogs of SARDA, which stands for The Search And Rescue Dog Association. They come in all shapes and sizes and from all breeds: German shepherds, collies, labradors, and retrievers. When they are not on duty, they are all soft, loving pets. But they have been specially trained to become some of England's elite working dogs in emergencies, helping volunteer mountain rescue teams.

They save people from death and have sniffed out bodies of still-living people who have become buried in the snow. Two SARDA dogs were flown to El Salvador five years ago to find earthquake victims in the rubble.

Scotland (with ferocious weather conditions unequalled even on Everest, trapping walkers and mountain climbers) has its own SARDA team. Five years ago, a section was set up in Ireland.

A trained search dog can track a human scent from a distance of 500 yards, even if the victim is buried under several feet of snow. As one handler puts it: "The work is often frustrating — hours of searching in bad weather conditions. But if the dogs don't always find the victim, they do save dozens of human searchers from wasting time looking in the wrong places."

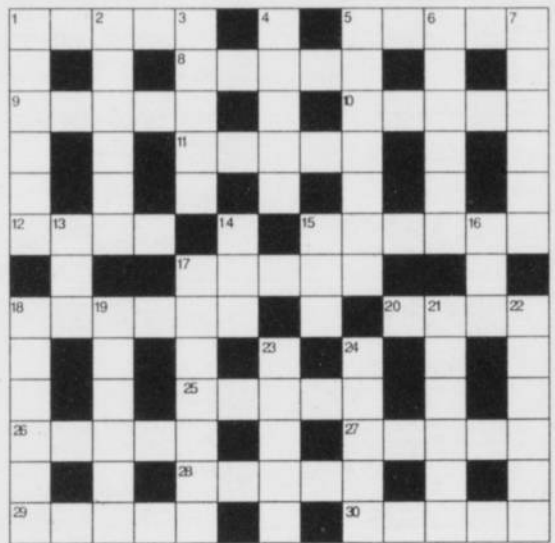

SARDA is a very worthy cause. To be able to transform loving pet dogs into highly-trained rescuers is a costly job. Who knows? One day in the future, you might be glad to have a SARDA dog come running up to you.

Some more doggone facts

There are 200 recognized breeds of dog in the world. The first true breed is considered to be the Saluki, which was actually bred by the ancient Egyptians.

According to the record books, three breeds of dog hold the record for the largest number of puppies in one litter — 23 each; they are the St. Bernard, Great
